An entity is managed by another entity if the managing entity performs, either directly or through another service provider on behalf of the managed entity, any of the following activities or operations: trading in money market instruments; foreign exchange; exchange, interest rate and index instruments; transferrable securities; or commodity futures trading.

An entity only manages another entity if it has discretionary authority to manage the other entity's assets (either in whole or part).

Where an entity is managed by a mix of financial institutions, NFEs or individuals, the entity is considered to be managed by another entity that is a depository institution, a custodial Institution, a specified insurance company, or an investment entity that performs the above trading functions, if any of the managing entities is such an entity.

A controlling person is any natural persons who exercise control over an entity. In the case of a trust, such term means the settlor(s), the trustee(s), the protector(s) (if any), the beneficiary(ies) or class(es) of beneficiaries, and any other natural person(s) exercising ultimate effective control over the trust, and in the case of a legal arrangement other than a trust, such term means persons in equivalent or similar positions.

Settlor

Settlors are natural or legal persons who transfer ownership of their assets to trustees by means of a trust deed or similar arrangement.

Tax resident

Tax residency rules differ by country. Whether an individual is tax resident of a particular country is often (but not always) based on the amount of time a person spends in a country, the location of a person's residence or place of work. For the US, tax residency can be as a result of citizenship or residency.

If a client thinks they may be a foreign tax resident, but is not certain, it is advisable that they seek specialist tax advice.

Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

A TIN is the number assigned by each country for the purposes of administering tax laws. This is the equivalent of a tax file number (TFN) in Australia or an employer identification number (EIN) in the US. Some jurisdictions use a functional equivalent, for example, the social security number in the US.

Note: The fact an individual or entity has a foreign TIN does not automatically make them a foreign tax resident. The OECD has published information on the usage and structure of the TINs on their automatic exchange portal.
